Miss Anna Crist is at home for the holidays.

The Waughtown wagon factory will not be worked during Christmas week.

Alfred Lindsay teaches the school at Pine Grove, made vacant by Mr. Huff's resignation.

Public hunting ground is diminishing in area. People continue to have land posted.

The weather, after several days cloudy and rainy, is now clear and cold.

REMOVED.—J. C. Fager has removed his fish market to near the Post Office building.

Three young men were immersed at the Baptist church, Winston, on the night of the 19th.

There was a Christmas tree, and recitations by the Sunday School scholars at Union Ridge on Christmas day.

From the amount of cakes that were baked in Waughtown they enjoyed Christmas deliciously there.

John Reddick, of Davidson County, has sold his plantation to William Stone, and moved to Thomasville.

Jeffrey Yokley, living on the Kernersville road, in Davidson County, has just built for himself a neat dwelling house.

Noah W. Rothrock who went from this county to Indiana eight and half years ago, is now at home on a visit. He has traveled all over the West and made a trip to Mexico.

Many of the little boys in Davidson County are trying to see who can trap the most rabbits. We know of one who has caught nearly forty. Trappers say rabbits are not easily caught after Christmas.

Geo. Nissen & Co. have disposed of the engine and boiler formerly used to run their machinery, and have placed new ones in their stead. Their new machinery operates handsomely.

Noah Moring, of Davidson County, has a breeding sow, two years old, from which he has sold $50 worth of pigs, killed six nice porkers this winter, and has six fine shoats for his next winter's killing.

It astonishes us to hear how much snuff some women dip. We hear of some who use seven "five cent" packages a week. One woman says she uses eight packages a week. Snuff is a very active agent to bring on consumption.

Among some of the improvements going on in Waughtown, we notice that Frank Nissen has added a handsome portion to his residence. The carpenter work by Thos. Cook, and painting by Lewis Stewart, speaks well of their efficiency.

A young man near Friendship heard that a mad dog was at a certain place, asleep. He shouldered arms and slipped very cautiously to within range of the spot, elevated himself in the end of a tree, leveled his piece and then pulled the trigger. The result was that he buried in a stump.

The colored Presbyterians of Winston, says the Pilot, are making an effort to raise money with which to buy a lot and build a church for their congregation. The pastor, Rev. A. B. Lawrence, requests us to say that no one is authorized to receive money without a printed list signed by himself.

DAVID CROFT.—John Hampton, white boy aged about 10 years, and a little negro boy aged 8 years, went out in the woods near Shady Grove on last Friday chopping when Hampton fell a tree upon the little negro mashing his head flat. He died almost instantly.

F. R. Ward killed four hogs the other day that weighed 2,000 pounds even.

Died a letter from John, Johnnie Douthit, son of S. A. Douthit, aged 1 year 11 months and 9 days.—Times.

A letter received from James F. Reed, Sheriff of Clay County, Mo., by Mrs. Tronout Chitty, dated Dec. 15th, states that her son Edward's death, which we published last week, was caused by heart disease. Mr. Chitty had been complaining for several days of feeling unwell, but on the evening preceding his death he remarked to Mr. Reed, who had called at his room to see him, that he felt much better and would be out next morning. As he failed to make his appearance in the morning Mr. Reed went again to his room, and not getting any response to the taps he made at the door looked under it and saw Mr. Chitty lying on the floor dead. Mr. Reed speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Chitty, who was at the time of his death, City Marshal of Liberty, Mo., and jailor. He had many friends, and was much respected in Clay County.

HEAVY PORK.—Wm. Nading killed 7 hogs on Dec. 11th, 12 months old, weighing 320, 310, 305, 290, 280, 260 and 240 lbs., being an average of 286 3/4 lbs. a piece.

P. A. Apperson, of Yadkin, killed a pig, 20 months old, weighing 412 lbs., of the Conny stock that that if you can. R.C.P.

S. E. Butler, of this place, killed a pig 18 months old, weighing 423 lbs.

Richard Beeson killed two hogs that weighed 600 lbs.

CHRISTMAS IN SALEM.

The holidays were ushered in with the closing Concert and Entertainment of the Schools.

SALEM ACADEMY CONCERT.

Prof. D'ANNA has put the music-loving organs of our community under obligations by another of his excellent concerts, the Christmas Concert at the Academy on Thursday night last, the 20th inst. In spite of the unfavorable weather and the counter attraction of a Milburn lecture on the same evening, the audience was a very large one. It was evidently an interested one too, for the performances were received with an attentive hearing quite remarkable, even in a community noted as ours is for the decorous quiet of its public assemblies.

Proceeding to remark upon the programme, we note first the chorus with which each part was begun and concluded. Of these, the chorus for female voices, Ford's Springtime, in 3 parts, was sung with an easy gracefulness and a ready responsiveness to the conductor's baton, indicating the various shades of expression, that made it especially delightful. It was full of fresh and original charm in the rendition, quite aside from its pleasing character as a composition. The final chorus from the Talisman, of Balfe, produced a very powerful effect. It was strong in volume of tone, the heavy male support was admirable, and the whole performance was given in a broad and massive style exceedingly impressive.

Next, we refer to the 3 important eight-hand piano performances, the extract from Raffi Lenore symphony arranged by Burchard; the Beethoven symphony, arranged by Hoffman; and the overture L'italia, of Platania, arranged by Sig. D'Anna. These three numbers composed the substantial part of the programme, and were produced in a manner worthy of great praise. The young ladies who took part in these, Misses HUNTER, JOHNSTON, RAMSEY, BRIDGEMAN and RAMSEY, deserve high commendation for their work. It was done in a thoroughly excellent manner. Much close and persistent effort must have been expended in preparation, for the pieces were played with a uniformity of action, a prompt and particular attention to details and a spirit and energy that could only be so attained. These three numbers afforded a fine opportunity for study and comparison, and thus for fuller enjoyment of the characteristic charms of each, the quaint gracefulness that adorned the first, the classic grandeur of the second, and the sparkling brilliance of the last. To our thinking the Beethoven symphony was, as music, the high-water mark of the programme, while the execution of the overture, especially in the rapid tempo, which was vigorously exacted up to the last chord, was the most admirable thing in the performance. We cannot do away over the beauties of either, but must go on to notice the individual pieces.

Miss HUNTER and Miss JOHNSTON gave us, respectively, Halberg's Last Rose of Summer and Dwyer's Chanson Hongroise. The former without question bore off the honors of piano playing in this programme, but Miss JOHNSTON deserves special notice for the very marked progress observable in her playing. These two numbers were interesting exhibitions, the results of faithful adherence to the excellent piano method of Sig. D'ANNA.

Miss LEXOR and Miss HINE were the soloists of the concert. The former sang somewhat nervously and once or twice with a departure from time, Sullivan's Let me dream again in a prettily simple style. Her deficiency of force, as well as of self-possession, it is to be hoped will be overcome by further work in public, for she possesses a voice of good quality and of much sweetness. Miss HINE appeared for the first time and gave us a pleasant surprise. This young lady sang Smith's White Red in a very pretty manner. She is fortunate in the natural gift of voice and promises with time to become a valuable acquisition to our musical circles. The resemblance in the character of her voice to that of our prima donna, Mrs. H. E. FRIES, was noted by several persons. This young lady sang Smith's White Red in a very pretty manner. The resemblance in the character of her voice to that of our prima donna, Mrs. H. E. FRIES, was noted by several persons.

We have not left ourselves sufficient space to comment particularly upon the remaining numbers of the programme and can only say that they gave evidence, without exception, of steady and intelligent work, on the part of the young ladies, and of the excellent training they enjoy under Sig. D'Anna's skillful direction.

In conclusion, Miss Hunter deserves special mention for her highly successful performance of the exacting duties of accompanist throughout the concert. This young lady, a graduate of the Academy's music department, is a most worthy representative of its high standard and of the practical success that it is continually achieving.

Salem Boys' School.
Called together for an appreciative audience on Wednesday evening, the Salem Boys' School gave an excellent Christmas entertainment in their spacious church, which was beautifully decorated. Songs, recitations, &c., were given in a very creditable manner showing continued improvement, indicating an interesting industry on part of teachers and scholars. Addresses were made by Dr. Rondthaler and Rev. J. T. Zorn. The church was overcrowded, many having only standing room.

Winkler, Frank Jenkins, Edward Stockton, Eugene Butler and Herbert Pihl; Chorus, The Morning is Glowing.

Elm Street Public School.
Closed on Friday afternoon with a bright and varied programme, as follows:

"What Santa Claus Brought," a dialogue between four of the smallest girls, was pleasing. Six of the largest boys and girls recited "Christmas Bells" from "The Christmas Tree." The Christmas Tree, recited by Louise Smith & Farewell to 1883, by Lee Sharp, were good; Christmas Greeting, Ernest Stockton; Hymn, Julia Alfred; Hymn, Mamie Ebert; Hymn, Floy Wheeler; Hymn, Preston Veach; The Star, Will Helge; Recitation, Walter Dillon; Hells of Christmas, Recitation, Howard Strupe; Hurray for Christmas, David Strupe; Scripture, Hymn, Ernest Helge; Wish, Nannie Linbeck; Recitation, Georgia Trivis; Glory to God, Rufus Sharp; Recitation, Clara Eberhart; Text, Albert Weesner; Santa Claus, Nettie Carter; Hymn, Jacob Hill; Holy Night, four little girls; Recitation, Lee Rights; My Gift, Lilah Smith; Recitation, Geo. Dillon; Who is Santa Claus? Julia Shaw; Christmas Time, Ernest Sheppard; Boundary of Christmas, Guy Wootton; Recitation, Harry Peterson; Christmas Bells, Chorus, December; My Christmas Tree, The Southern Christmas Eve, Charles Eadie; Christmas Day, Rufus Tost; A Search for Santa Claus, Rosa Bitter; Christmas Eve, Dan Barton; That Glorious Song of Old, Lee Sharp; Christmas Morning, Dora Pratt; Recitation, Leonidas Lamb; What can a Little Girl Give Jesus? Thomas Pratt; Christmas Carol, Charlie Reich; A Gift for Jesus, Mary Sharp; Recitation, Jesse Luther; Recitation, Mary Graham; Luther's Cradle Song, Osmyn Tesh; The Child Jesus, Ben Friday; Recitation, Alexander Helge; The Guiding Star, Ross Welfare; The Yule Log, William Tesh; Pleasant Time of Year, Eva Wheeler; Recitation, Thomas Helge; The Christmas Tree, Louise Smith; Under the Mistletoe, Frank Graham; As a Child, Katie Sharp; Recitation, Permania Brown; Santa Claus and the Stockings, Eddie Mickey; Farewell to 1883, Lee Sharp; What Santa Claus Brought, 4 girls.

Enrollment 104 scholars. Average attendance 75.

THE ELM STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL.
gave a very pleasing entertainment on the afternoon of Christmas Day. The programme embraced, singing, recitations, in the style of a dialogue, a large cross was erected, studded with stars on stem and arms. Three prominent stars representing Faith, Hope and Love, were supplemented by other stars representing the Christian graces. At the recitation of a suitable passage of Scripture, each star was lit up and a beautiful illuminated cross appeared. An appreciative audience was present, notwithstanding the inclement weather.

The Christmas services in the Moravian church were as interesting as usual. The decorations were, if possible, even more elaborate and beautiful than last year. Heavy festoons of evergreen graced every available point, from ceiling to galleries. Around the pulpit was grouped the most attractive display, composed of two obelisks, with inscriptions, and shields above the doors. A magnificent evergreen, lily, ornamented with flowers graced the wall back of pulpit, and was the finest piece of work of the kind we have ever seen. Every window contained a miniature cedar tree.

THE SALEM HOME SUNDAY SCHOOL.
rendered the beautiful Cantata "Immortal W" in the church on Tuesday evening last, in a most creditable manner. The singing was exceedingly fine and the recitations well given. The duet of Misses Butler and Fisher, the solos of Misses Rondthaler, Hunter, Siddall and others, were charming. Miss A. Fries' recitation was admirably said, and elicited much favorable comment, as did that of Miss M. Thomas. The boys sang well in concert, and the solos of Masters Thomas Siddall, Frank Stockton, Harry Mickey were very favorably received. The bass of Master John Butler was excellent. All was good, and we are pleased to see the marked improvement at each concert.

On Wednesday evening the Salem Home Sunday School gave an excellent Christmas entertainment in their spacious church, which was beautifully decorated. Songs, recitations, &c., were given in a very creditable manner showing continued improvement, indicating an interesting industry on part of teachers and scholars. Addresses were made by Dr. Rondthaler and Rev. J. T. Zorn. The church was overcrowded, many having only standing room.

East Salem Sunday School celebrated Christmas on Monday night with an entertainment. A large Christmas tree and an illuminated star added much to the interest of the occasion.

Christmas Eve was celebrated in the Baptist Church at Winston. Santa Claus was personated to the delight of the large audience present.

The Episcopal Church was beautifully decorated for the Christmas services.

Kernersville Letter.
Merry Editors:—On Sunday last disagreeable as it was, I went to Friedland, where I found quite a good congregation assembled. After preaching I administered the rite of baptism to three adults and received four by Confirmation.

Going home I met three white and one colored boy, all were carrying jugs, and from their hilarity I suppose they had something in them for Christmas. When we met, one asked if I had been to the Baptist church? and how far it was? I answered, "That's too thin, boys!" they laughed and went on. I passed by a little country store, it was open and people were in it, but of course they were not trading on Sunday!

One of our near neighbors, Mr. Julius King, has sold out and moved to the other end of the town, and Mr. John Greenfield has bought out Mr. King and taken possession. Mr. J. W. Beard is building a fine house on Salisbury street. Dr. William Dicks has bought and moved into the late Rufus Keener property; and Mr. Highfill, son-in-law of Uncle Joe Keener, has moved up on Dr. Dick's farm and will tend it; the Dr. could not have got a better man.

On last Thursday evening I attended the "musical entertainment" closing the term of Professor Lindsay's School at the Academy, and we had a nice time. Miss Seitz, the music-teacher, is an excellent performer; she plays, she doesn't claw, but her instrument was miserably out of tune, although I am told she had only paid a man the day before for pretending to tune it. Prof. Lindsay is doing all he can to make his school worthy of patronage, both religiously and intellectually, and pupils will be safe in his hands.

I see from the Press that my friend, Mr. Samuel Helge, has gone the married way, and that the printer was remembered. Some other folks would have liked to have come in for a share, but never mind, we are used to disappointment.

During the last cold spell there was quite a lively time around town here, slaughtering swine; and upon the whole, the best hogs have been killed this fall that ever have been killed here. Has the hog anything to do with it? I have taken the liberty to refer to the last week's Kernersville News for the weight of some of them: W. A. Griffith, 2 hogs, 768; A. Lewis, 2, 740; Prof. J. S. Ray, 2, 725; C. L. Rights, 1, 363; Rufus Harmon, 1, 350; L. E. Griffith, 1, 304; L. N. Leak, 3, 903, making an average of 346 lbs. The oldest hog killed was not over 13 months old. The average age was 11 months. But Master Jimmy Beard, son of Mr. J. W. Beard, did better yet; he killed a pig 6 months old that weighed 220 lbs.; and the fattest hog killed was a guinea pig given last Christmas by Mr. Francis Stafford as a present to his little grandson, Master Lewis Stafford; it looked more like an overgrown opossum than a hog, and weighed 210 pounds; its eyes were completely shut and it had to sit when it ate, and was almost as round as a ball.

In closing this letter I take occasion to sincerely wish all my friends, the readers of the Press, a happy Christmas and New Year; and the future is granted they will hear from me in the time to come.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs, such as colds, whooping cough, croup, &c., which are so often the forerunners of a fatal disease. AYER'S Cherry Pectoral, a well proven and reliable remedy, will prevent and cure such diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.
"In 1881 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed many sleepless nights. The doctor gave me up. I tried AYER'S Cherry Pectoral, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL, a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me."
—HOBACE FAIRBROTHER.
Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.
"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup. It seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One day the family suggested the use of AYER'S Cherry Pectoral, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life, and you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
—A. J. CHASE.
130 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effective remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried."
—J. JOSEPH WALKER.
Lakewood, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S Cherry Pectoral."
—JOSEPH WALKER.
Elyria, Minn., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S Cherry Pectoral, being as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung trouble."
—E. DUNSTON.
Palestine, Texas, April 12, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs, which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S Cherry Pectoral, is not already under the control of medicine.
